EMISSIONS DE BILLETS D'AVIONS

Les agences de voyage face à la concurrence de l'informel

Les enseignes des agences de voyages pullulent dans les rues de la capitale. Elles sont devenues, au fil du temps, le tampon incontournable entre les clients et les compagnies aériennes dans les émissions de billets. A Dakar, elles sont confrontées à une concurrence d'autres acteurs informels, à la non rétribution de commission sur les billets, etc.

Tidiane Dan Diouga, opérateur économique, est un habitué des avions. En raison de ses nombreuses activités d'import-export, il ne reste pas une semaine entière à Dakar et fait la navette entre le Sénégal, Dubai, la Chine et la Thaïlande. Pendant une quinzaine d'années, il a été son dévoué sur la ligne tous ce qui est achat et réservation de billet. « J'ai confié tout ce qui concerne les documents de voyage à mon agence », indique M. Diouga, rencontré dans une agence de voyage au centre-ville. A l'instar de cet homme d'affaires, de nombreux clients paient leur billets auprès de ces agences devenues un maillon essentiel dans la chaîne des transports aériens. Le directeur général de Marega Voyage, Abdou Khadre Diop, fait part des nombreuses difficultés qui ont rendu le secteur moins rentable et note une prolifération de structures dans la capitale. « Des opérateurs économiques se réveillent un jour et mettent en place leur agence sans respecter les conditions préalables établies par l'administration compétente », dénonce-t-il. M. Diop soutient que bon nombre d'agences exercent dans l'illegalité et font perdre des parts de marché considérables à celles qui sont en règle. En plus de la floraison des agences, il note également une forte concurrence qu'il qualifie de déloyale. Outre ces entraves, M. Diop se plaint aussi du fait que les compagnies aériennes ne versent pas aux agences des commissions sur les billets émis. « Notre difficulté majeure est que la majorité des compagnies avec qui nous travaillons ne respectent pas le versement des commissions. Et cela nous pose des problèmes de trésorerie car c'est un manque à gagner », s'injurie-t-il. Le montant de cette commission représente entre 3 % et 7 % du montant du billet. Un autre responsable d'une agence de voyage nous plonge dans ses souvenirs de 2007, une période pendant laquelle le business autour des agences était plus rentable et fructueux. « Aujourd'hui, il y a un laisser aller qui ne dit pas son nom. Même s'il y a une réglementation qui régit le secteur, il reste envahi par des acteurs qui n'ont aucune expérience dans le domaine », dénonce-t-il. D'après lui, l'assainissement passe impérativement par un diagnostic profond des maux dont souffre le secteur. Pour cela, il faut suspendre l'attribution des agréments et faire l'état des lieux pour étudier les facteurs qui bloquent, préconise-t-il. Les responsables d'agences ont aussi noté le fait que de nombreux clients sollicitent des billets à crédit.

African aviation industry suffers from dearth of professionals

Ethiopian Aviation Academy calls upon African states to use its facility

By Kaleyesus Bekele

The thriving African aviation industry is suffering from shortage of well trained aviation professionals. It was heard.

This was revealed at the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) Fourth Global Aviation Training and Resource Plan Symposium held this week in Addis Ababa. In his welcoming remarks, Ethiopian Airlines Group CEO, Tewelde Gebremariam, said that the African continent is suffering from shortage of aviation professionals, particularly pilots, aircraft technicians and engineers. "There isn't enough training available in the continent, and there are not enough training centers. Migration of skilled manpower to the developed world is a serious challenge."

With a population of over one billion and a large landmass, Africa is underdeveloped. "Africa contributes only three percent to the global air transport industry. All of us in Africa are concerned that the aviation sector is not developing as fast as the economic growth in the continent," Tewelde said.

He said that as a Pan African airline Ethiopian Airlines has been serving Africa for seven decades. "We believe that we have contributed our share to the development of aviation in the continent. We have built the largest aviation academy in Africa. It is the most modern aviation academy established with the purpose of serving Africa. It has the capacity of training 4,000 trainees at a time and is equipped with the most modern aviation training facilities."

The CEO said that training is the foundation of any airline. "Many airlines in Europe and America can afford to outsource training because it is available in the market. But in Africa it is not readily available in the market. That is why self-sufficiency has been the driving force of Ethiopian Airlines right from its inception. That is why the academy is as old as the airline itself."

Tewelde asked ICAO and member states to deliberate and come up with a resolution to encourage aviation professionals. "ICAO is working hard with member countries to enhance training because training is the foundation of safety. Training is the foundation of security and insuring the foundation of quality services."

Ethiopia to train Tanzanian pilots, engineers

ADDIS ABABA - Seeking to embark on capacity building for its employees at affordable costs, Air Tanzania Company Limited (ATCL), will send 28 pilots and aircraft engineers for training at institutions operated by Ethiopian Airlines here.

"Training a pilot in Ethiopia will save 500 USD per hour compared to the amount currently paid for such training in the United Kingdom and Canada," the Managing Director of ATCL, Ladislaus Matind, explained Thursday.

It is on this backdrop that the national carrier will begin this year dispatching 18 aircraft engineers and 10 pilots for training in Addis Ababa. Matind explained after a meeting with officials from Ethiopian Airlines based in Tanzania.

"We are now waiting for approval from the Tanzania Civil Aviation Authority (TCCA) before we send them. It is a requirement for the aviation regulator to certify training institutes for our experts," he said.

He further noted that the ATCL Director for Technical Services and Operations, Captain Richard Shaidi would travel to Ethiopia next week to finalize the deal between the two airlines.

"Ethiopian Airlines has well equipped training and maintenance facilities and we can benefit from their expertise. The training will be for new pilots and those in service through recurrent training," he remarked.

At the same occasion, Ethiopian Airlines Area Manager for Tanzania, Dahlak Tefeni, said the deal will provide a win-win situation between the two airlines. He pointed further that it is not the first time that the two companies are co-operating to improve the capacity of their workforce and operations.

The co-operation was heightened during discussions between Prime Minister Hailemariam Dessalegn and President John Magufuli during the former's visit to Tanzania.

Dr Magufuli said then that the Ethiopian leader agreed during their meeting to strengthen cooperation between ATCL and Ethiopian Airlines. President Magufuli will establish a cargo hub in Dar es Salaam for transferring consignments.

"The Ethiopian airline has big aircrafts and several destinations worldwide - Dar es Salaam, Zanzibar and Kilimanjaro," he added.

The cooperation, Dr Magufuli said, will help in training and maintenance, expressing optimism that the two leaders believe it will be possible through the experts from both countries, according to Tanzania Daily News.

Ethiopian celebrates reopening of Abuja Airport

• In-flight Catering awarded

BY TEWODROS KASSA

ADDIS ABABA - The Ethiopian Airlines graced the reopening of Abuja Airport yesterday with its modern fleet, Airbus A350-900.

Announcing the reopening, Group CEO Ethiopian Airlines Tewelde Gebremariam remarked that the Pan African airline has always been source of pride for connecting the African countries among themselves and beyond.

"The A350 is one of the landmarks in our 70 years proud history, providing exceptional levels of luxury and reliability for a really unique passenger experience."

Hence, with the reopening of Abuja Airport, the extra features of the game changing fleet, Airbus A350, would be awaiting for the esteemed Nigeria travelers, according to the CEO.

He further said, "We shall continue to avail critical air connectivity options and connect African countries together and far beyond."

Ethiopian currently operates 20 weekly flights to four Nigerian cities including the reopened airport offering hassle free connectivity.

Ethiopian signs codeshare agreement with Air Europa

Africa's largest airline group, Ethiopian Airlines, signed a codeshare agreement with Air Europa, taking effect as of April 11, 2017.

The new partnership is a free sale codeshare agreement, thereby allowing the partner airlines access to each other's network by creating smooth connection at their respective hubs.

Busera Awel, Chief Commercial Officer at Ethiopian Airlines, said "we are pleased to optimize our collaboration with Air Europa through this instrumental codeshare agreement. As a customer focused airline, we always strive to meet our customer's ever growing demand, availing critical connectivity options. This strategic collaboration will enable our esteemed customer's reach multiple destinations in Europe through one point check-in at point of origin. Reciprocally, Ethiopian vast African network is an added advantage to customers of Air Europa; connecting 53 major cities in Africa with minimum layover at our Addis hub."

Imanol Pérez, Commercial Deputy Director of Air Europa, has expressed his satisfaction for the agreement reached with Ethiopian Airlines as it allows Air Europa to have presence in the African continent and offer its passengers a wider choice of travel destinations.

In addition, Air Europa also provides Ethiopian Airline's passengers with excellent connectivity with other European and American destinations where Air Europa flies to through its Madrid hub.

Ethiopian to inaugurate three wide body hangars

BY YOHANES JEMANEH

ADDIS ABABA - Africa's largest Aviation Group, Ethiopian Airlines disclosed that it will inaugurate three more wide body hangars on the sideline of International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) Symposium slated for April 11-13, 2017.

Ethiopian Group CEO, Mr. Tewelde Gebremariam said the facility is one of the four pillars in the airline's fast, profitable and sustainable growth strategic roadmap, Vision 2025.

He said the move would further complement the airline's steady growth in keeping the national carrier's leading role in the MRO service in Africa.

"We have been making massive infrastructure development projects to modernize and expand existing MRO facilities at a cost of 115 million USD. Beyond ensuring self-sufficiency, completion of these maintenance hangars will surely enhance our capability to cope up with the 21st century new aviation developments and offer third party services," Tewelde said.

Currently, Ethiopian is providing complete total care-maintenance service for ASKY, Malawian, Rwandan Air, Congo Airways, Ceiba Intercontinental, CanAir-Co. and Jambojet Airlines.

It has expanded services to a number of operators based in Africa, Middle East, Far East and Central Asia noted the CEO, adding this milestone is also a symbol of the successful partnership with AVIC International and EXIM Bank of China. "I hope this accomplishment will be replicated in Ethiopian 5-Star Hotel project which is now 40% complete."

Ethiopian MRO is accredited by Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), European Aviation Safety Agency (EASA), and European Common Aviation Area (ECAA) and is currently offering dependable various maintenance services.

Furthermore, Ethiopian MRO is Boeing and Bombardier approved facility and proved its performance excellence by securing Bombardier's Airline Reliability Performance Award for five years in a row, according to a press release sent to The Ethiopian Herald.

The facility is equipped with state of the art teleplatforms and tail docks; a full Paint and General

Maintenance hangar along with 15,000 Sq.m backside offices, different shops and 105,000sq.m hangar apron area, each facility is capable of accommodating 1-B747-800 (the biggest Boeing airplane) at a time or more other type of aircraft in different arrangements. The third hangar is also capable of accommodating 1-B777-200 or 3-B737 Aircraft at a time.

Fasika (Orthodox Easter)

Fasika is Ethiopian Easter and is celebrated in conjunction with Orthodox Easter celebrations around the world. Fasika is the most important holiday in the Ethiopian Orthodox calendar and follows a long 55-day fast, where no meat or dairy products are consumed. Strict followers generally consume one meal of vegetables and lentils during this time. Church services are attended on the eve before the holiday, where revellers participate in a colourful service lit with candles. The following day, families and friends celebrate Fasika with special feasts that mark the end of the long fast. Doro wat, a spicy chicken stew, is the most traditional food served in all households.

Ethiopian Orthodox Christians celebrate Easter anywhere from a week to two weeks after the western Church (sometimes, they occur at the same time, due to the vagaries of the Eastern Orthodox calendar, which Ethiopians follow). Fasika (Easter) follows eight weeks of fasting from meat and dairy. On Easter Eve, Ethiopian Christians participate in an hour-long church service that ends around 3 a.m., after which they break their fast and celebrate the risen Christ.

Celebrations continue for the following week, with an unofficial "second Fasika" the following weekend. Axum has a colourful procession for Palm Sunday (known as Hosanna), the week before Fasika which is well worth a visit. Like most holidays, the celebration takes place the night before the actual holiday (Saturday night).
